OFFSET PROJECT CATEGORY OVERVIEW

Demand for electricity in Turkey is growing this wind farm project supplies the national grid with zero emission energy generated by the wind resources of the Gokçedag Mountains of Osmaniye province in southeast Turkey.

In addition to reducing greenhouse gas emissions by displacing energy from thermal power plants, the project has also created employment opportunities in the area.

These project help to secure supplies for rural communities and works with locals to identify infrastructure needs in order to improve connectivity and community facilities.

The projects meet the following Sustainable Development Goals
